WANTS TO BE A QUEEN.

Princess Kaiulani Hopes to Establish a Monarchy.

EXPECTS AID FROM AMERICA

She is Giving Public Receptions For the Purpose of Alienating the People From the Present Government.

Honolulu, Nov. 25.—The presence of Princess Kaiulani is not satisfactory to the adherents of the deposed queen, as they believe that the young woman has returned for the purpose of starting a boom for herself at the expense of the former queen.

Kaiulani's supporters claim that in the event of a refusal on the part of congress to annex Hawaii she will stand a good chance of being placed on the throne under a limited monarchy.

The princess has been giving public receptions at her home and in other ways is trying to make herself popular.

J. K. Kaulla and D. Kalinokalani left for Washington to work against the annexation of the islands. Both men represent the royalists of Honolulu.

They will be followed by John Richardson and R. W. Wilcox, both half whites, and A. Marques, a white man, who were selected by the queen's supporters in the island of Maui.

An Unvarying Reputation.

Wilcox was originally in favor of the present government. After a time he became dissatisfied and finally joined the ranks of the 1895 rebels. He was sent to prison and is now out on parole.

He was sent to Italy by Kalukau to receive a military training. In 1887, shortly after his return to the islands, he started a movement to dethrone the king. He and his followers were repulsed by the whites.

Samuel Parker, probably the most influential Hawaiian in the country and who is an annexationist, says that the delegates can do but little in Washington Congress, he says, will have convened when they arrive.

Eleven large vessels, with a total carrying capacity of 30,000 tons, have thus far been chartered to carry sugar from Hawaiian ports to New York.

Kapeo Kai, the native who recently murdered Dr. J. K. Smith on the Island of Kauai, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. A jury was sequestered from 100 Hawaiians, and the prosecution expects to see Kai hanged before the year is out.

Everything Satisfactory.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Hon. Francis M. Hatch, the Hawaiian minister, returned to the city after an absence of several months, the greater portion of which was spent in Honolulu. Mr. Hatch describes affairs as being quiet and satisfactory in Honolulu, and the people are thinking more of business than of politics.

Josephine Widener Memorial.

Philadelphia, Nov. 25.—At a dinner given by Mr. P. A. B. Widener to about 40 intimate personal and business associates the formal announcement was made by Dr. William Pepper of Mr. Widener's intention to present to the Free Library of Philadelphia his magnificent residence. The building is to be held in trust forever by the city as an integral part of the free library system under the name of the Josephine Widener Memorial Branch to commemorate the deceased wife of the donor.

Burgery Is Charged.

Boston, Nov. 25.—William T. Spear, a prominent business man of this city, was arraigned in court on a charge of forgery preferred by his cousin, Sanford L. Leeds, a book and shoe merchant here. The amount involved in this single transaction is said to be small, but the inspector states that complaints involving thousands of dollars have been placed with him.

To Strengthen the Army.

London, Nov. 25.—Mr. Chamberlain announces that the government will introduce a comprehensive measure of army reform, based upon a careful consideration of England's military needs. He says he considers the army ought to be "strong enough to meet the possible, though improbable, emergency of a breakaway in the navy."

May summon a jury.

Richmond, Nov. 25.—Judge Hughes was here in consultation with Mr. M. F. Pleasants, clerk of the United States circuit court, in regard to summoning a jury for the trial of John Anderson, now in jail at Norfolk for the murder on the high seas of the captain and mate of the schooner Olive Pecker.

No Ice Hills to Pay.

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—Mr. Ogilvie, the government surveyor, who has just returned from a year's stay on the Yukon, brings a record of the temperature in that region, showing in January, 1896, a temperature as low as 68.1 below zero.

THE HUSBAND HELD.

He Is Wanted as a Witness Before the Coroner.

Cleveland, Nov. 25.—Jacob Winkler, the husband of Mrs. Nettie Winkler, who was murdered at her home on St. Clair street, this city, Friday noon, was locked up in the Cuyahoga county jail in default of $1,000 bail, to appear as a witness at the coroner's inquest.

The decision to hold Winkler was reached after the murdered woman's husband had been in the "sweatbox" at police headquarters for six hours.

The woman's former lover, whose name had been connected with the tragedy, appeared here voluntarily and proved an alibi, and it is believed that was upon information furnished by him that Winkler is now held.

Sweeping Liquor Order.

Muskogee, I. T., Nov. 25.—Indian Agent Wisdom has ordered his Indian police to arrest all persons found with liquor in their possession or who are in an intoxicated condition, and turn them over to the United States marshals. ## A DISGRACEFUL SCENE

Occurs In Lower House of Austrian Reichsrath.

ANARCHY REIGNS SUPREME

Chairs, Knives and Fists Were Used, While Challenges to Fight Duels and Billingsgate Took the Place of Argument.

Vienna, Nov. 25.—The members of the lower house of the reichsrath exhibited themselves in producing the most disgraceful scene yet witnessed in that branch of parliament.

The turbulence resulted from a motion that only one of number of similar petitions against the ordinance making the Czech language co-ordinate with the German in Bohemia would be read and reprinted.

The members of the Left party protested uprarily against the motion referred to, stigmatizing it as "oppressive and illegal." Finally the members of the lower house became so disorderly that the president of that body, Dr. Abrahamovics, was once more compelled to suspend the sitting, and he soon afterward left the house.

The departure of President Abrahamovics was the signal for a scene of the wildest disorder. Dr. Wolff, the German Nationalist leader, clambered up into the president's tribune, seized a heavy bell and swung it to and fro, materially increasing the disorder prevailing. The bell, however, was almost imminently wrenches from Dr. Wolff's hand by Deputy Pollock.

While this incident was in progress challenges to fight duels and showers of billingsgate and other insults were exchanged on all sides, until the interior of the house in every way resembled an Inferno.

A number of young Czechs and Poles made a rush for the president's tribune and attempted to tear Dr. Wolff down from the position which he occupied, and they in turn were attacked by a number of Leftists, and a disgraceful scrimmage was the result. This was only the beginning of the fighting.

During the preliminary scuffling some of the young Czechs struck Dr. Wolff, and this caused such an uproar that a regular pitched battle with fistfights ensued, lasting for a quarter of an hour.

Herr Schoenerer, the leader of a section of the German Opposition, caught hold of and brandished over his head one of the ministers' armchairs, and was evidently about to hurl it at the heads of his immediate opponents, when he was seized and disarmed by Herr Hagenhofer.

By this time the disorder was of such a nature that even the public in the galleries cried shame upon the fighting, swearing and insult-exchanging deputies.

A Polish member, Herr Polacz, rushed upon another member, Herr Pfereche and was nearly strangling him, when Pfereche, on the impulse, drew a penknife from his jacket and opened it, but he was disarmed by a colleague before any further harm was done.

Herr Pfereche was by that time so exhausted by the choking he had received at the hands of Herr Polacz and was so overcome with exertion that he fainted.

Arrests May Follow.

At this moment President Abrahamovics returned to the house, but after repeated and vain efforts to quell the disorder prevailing he closed the sitting of the house. In so doing the president said: "In view of the acts of violence which have occurred in the house I consider it my duty to close this sitting. Will those members who are willing to give me the names of the violent members please come to my office?"

Several members of the house accepted the invitation of the president, and as a result it is believed that Herr Schoenerer, Wolff and Pfereche will be arrested upon the charge of fighting in public.

President Abrahamovics was greeted with cries of "Polish scoundrel," "swindler," "blackguard" and "baden-eunuch."

One deputy was stabbed in the hand, another had his collar-bone broken; a third received a severe scalp wound.

Count Badeni, the premier, with a smear on his face, watched the combat throughout. Herr Wolff declared that he would bring his revolver to the next sitting.

Herr Wolff received the worst treatment. He was struck on the head a dozen times. Blows rained upon his face, the bell was thrown at him, his clothes were torn, and as often as he got up he was knocked off his feet.

London, Nov. 25.—At the central criminal court Florence Stansfield, who was charged at the Westminster police court on Nov. 12 with attempting to blackmail Earl Carrington, the joint hereditary lord great chamberlain, was sentenced to 18 months penal servitude.

The court proceedings developed the fact that Florence Stansfield, who is described as a fine looking woman of distinguished manners, had sent letters to Earl Carrington demanding money. Her counsel explained that his client had written the letters under a mistake as to the identity of Earl Carrington.

The magistrate, however, declined to allow the case to be withdrawn and committed the prisoner for trial.

Have Taken No Action.

Houston, Nov. 25.—The attorneys of Durrant have not yet made any effort to have the confession of convict Blanther, unearthed at Morgan, confirmed by private inquiry. The attorneys are still comparing the note confessing the murder of Minnie Williams and Blanch Lamont with specimens of Blanther's writing to be found in Bosque county, and claim that there are many reasons for believing it genuine and not a forgery.

FOR THE KLONDIKE.

THE NOVEL CONTRIVANCES OF TWO CANADIAN INVENTORS.

A Balloon for the Journey and a Patent Device for Working Frozen Ground.
The First is Like an Airship and Cigar Shaped.

The path will soon see a conveyance that the inventor expects will revolutionize the traffic over the snow covered paths to the Yukon goldfields. It is the Klondike balloon, the invention and manufacture of Joseph de l'Etoile, who has been successful in many scientific inventions.

Mr. de l'Etoile is in the employ of the interior department in Ottawa, Canada. From what can be learned about this latest invention it is an airship, rather small and cigar shaped.

On the bow is placed a two bladed propeller attached to a shaft which extends to the rear. On the stern is a peculiar steering apparatus. Directly underneath the balloon is a car, in which is placed a small engine of special design, which will furnish the motive power and generate the hot air with which the balloon is to be filled. The car is covered in all sides and will hold about eight passengers, with provisions and all necessary apparatus to complete the trip. From the car the course and speed of the machine will be directed, as the steering gear will lead from the rudder to it and a chain or belt will communicate with the propeller shaft. On top of the balloon is a trap by which the supply of hot air may be controlled and the vehicle brought to the ground or raised with ease. Aluminium enters largely into the construction of the balloon and all its parts.

It is not many weeks since the project was conceived, but during that time everything necessary has been accomplished and the machine completed and made ready for its trial. Mr. de l'Etoile has been studying this invention for years. A company of Ottawa capitalists took hold of the project as a likely means of overcoming the difficulties and hardships of the journey to the Klondike and invested a sufficient amount of money to make the building of the balloon a success. No concise information will be given before the trial trip, which is to be made within the next few days. The promoters of the enterprise have confidence in the scheme and expect that the Canadian government will utilize their machine for the transfer of mails between Edmonton and the goldfields, the proposed passenger route of the airship.

R. H. Haycock, a mining engineer of Ottawa has secured a patent on a contrivance which is expected to obviate the difficulties of mining in the Klondike. At present mining is carried on there only with great difficulty in the frozen ground. The ground has to be cleared out with wood fires, and when the snow is under the fire is thawed the sides are scraped off and the soft gravel is removed. This operation has to be repeated, and it generally takes four men 10 days to make a hole 24 feet deep. Washing out the gold from the gravel can be carried on only for two or three months in the year, owing to the scarcity of water, and during the remaining months the miners work at getting out his pay dirt.

Mr. Haycock's invention is designed to overcome all these difficulties and render mining and washing out operations possible the whole year round. It consists of a thresher and excavator. The thresher is a contrivance of the size of the hole it is desired to make. It is heated to a high temperature with hot air and driven into the ground as fast as the soil beneath it is softened. The heat is increased by the action of another apparatus, whose working Mr. Haycock will not disclose.

After the gravel beneath the thresher has been softened it is drawn out by the excavator, which raises it to a dumping platform, where it is put through the sluice boxes. These boxes have been so contrived that the water passing through them can be used over and over again, with very little waste. By means of this machine, Mr. Haycock believes, eight men can sink a shaft 24 feet deep in one day. The cost in operating also will be greatly in favor of the machine, the estimated expense of making a hole 24 feet deep by present method being $600 and by his machine $160.—New York Sun.

Luettger's Dog Guard.

The home of the sausage maker Adolph L. Luettger in Chicago is guarded by two fierce hounds, Major and Tige. Since the incarceration of Luettger Major has mounted guard on the front porch. There he sits and waits for the return of his master. He will sit for hours or lie crouched on the upper step, with his nose pointed in the direction from which Luettger usually returned from an excursion into the city. Unless called away or to get food or disturbed by some one approaching the house Major never leaves his post in the daytime. At night he patrols house, factory and garden as faithfully as any sentry ever placed to guard sleeping army in the enemy's front. Sometimes he is joined by Tige. Both the dogs, though fierce to strangers, are devoted to Luettger and his children. The latter play with them and teach them all manner of tricks.—New York Journal.

which is bringing comfort to thousands of sufferers.

Probably half the people who see this article suffer from piles. It is one of the commonest diseases and one of the most obstinate. People have it for years and just because it is not immediately fatal they neglect it. Carelessness causes no end of suffering. Carelessness about so simple a thing as piles has often caused death. Hemorrhages occur from no apparent cause and loss of blood causes death. Hemorrhages occur during surgical treatment, often causing death.

Piles are simple in the beginning and easily cured. They can be cured even in the worst stages, without pain or loss of blood, quickly, surely and completely. There is only one remedy that will do it—Pyramid Pile Cure.

It allays the inflammation immediately, heals the irritated surface and with continued treatment reduces the swelling and puts the membranes into good, sound, healthy condition. The cure is thorough and permanent.

Here are some voluntary and unolicited testimonials we have lately received:

Mrs. M. C. Hinkley, 601 Mississippi St., Indianapolis, Ind., says: Have been a sufferer from the pain and annoyance of piles for fifteen years; the Pyramid Pile Cure and Pyramid Pills gave me immediate relief and in a short time a complete cure.

Mr. M. Griffin, proprietor of the Griffin House, Detroit, Mich., says: I have been a sufferer from piles until three years ago I bought one box of the Pyramid Pile Cure and since then I have had no piles. I have recommended them to many friends and guests at my hotel, every one of whom has been cured.

The above is true, as my experience has proved it, and I hope it may induce other sufferers to try the Pyramid.

A little book on cause and cure of piles will be mailed free to any address by writing to Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

MAKING PLATE GLASS.

An Operation That Requires a Deal of Skill and Care.

A visit to a plate glass works reveals nothing perhaps more interesting than the casting tables on which the heavy plate glass used in most store windows is cast. "The casting tables," said the superintendent of a large factory, "are the most important pieces of apparatus in this establishment."

"Each table is about 20 feet long, 15 feet wide and from 7 to 8 inches thick. The heavy strips of iron on either side of the tables afford a bearing for the rollers and determine the thickness or diameter of the glass to be cast."

"The rough plate is commonly nine-sixteenths of an inch thick, but after polishing it is reduced to six or seven sixteenths. All casting tables are mounted on wheels which run on a track made to reach every furnace and annealing oven in the factory. The table having been wheeled as near as possible to the melting furnace, a pot of molten glass is lifted by means of a crane and its contents poured quickly on the table.

"A heavy iron roller then passes from end to end, spreading the glass to a uniform thickness. This rolling operation has to be done by expert hands quickly, as the boiling glass, when it comes in contact with the cold metal of the table, cools very rapidly. When the rolling process has been completed, the door of the annealing oven is opened and the plate of glass is introduced.

When the glass is ready to be taken out of the oven, its surface is very rough. In this condition it is used for skylights and other purposes where strength is desired rather than transparency, but when intended for windows it is ground, smoothed and polished and is then ready for the market."—Boston Globe.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

SENTENCED TO HANG.

An Ohio Man Gets Fired Up With Pennsylvania Law.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Nov. 25. Frank Wilson of Marion, O., and James Farrell of Aliquippa, Allegheny county, were sentenced in the Linn county court to be hanged.

The prisoners had been convicted of the murder of Henry Bonneka, aged miner of Arizona, on April 7, 1896. The crime was committed in the miners' house at midnight, while they were taking their wages.

The trial was made remarkable by the trial and conviction of Wilson and the information that Henry Hindleand, a convict in the penitentiary at Hartman, had confessed that he and the co-defendants had murdered Bonneka. Hindleand took his own life in the pen after making this confession.

In denying the motion for a new trial Judge Bell limited it to the case of Durant, the San Francisco murderer, as an illustration of the propensity of crooks to assume to themselves the commission of notorious crimes.

William Doran, who was with Wilson and Farrell in the murder, fled from the country and has not yet been captured.

Want Their Money.

New York, Nov. 25.—Two thousand men employed in laying the tracks of the underground trolley in Second avenue have struck. Reserves from two police stations were called out to suppress what threatened to be a riot. The cause of the strike is said to be the failure of the contractors to pay the men their money at the conclusion of each week.

WHIST EXPERTS:

Mr. and Mrs. William Bell gave the members of their family a hand some dinner at noon to day, old and young being enjoyed the feast of good things.

Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McHaffey, of West Spring street, Mrs. Ella Ballard gave a charming little party to ten couples of young folks. Cards were but one of the diversions of the evening, numerous other plans for enjoyment having been made. An amusing feature was cards bearing pictures of familiar songs which each young man was compelled to sing as best he could. Mr. Fred Becker, by his wonderful rendering of "After the Ball," in falsetto, won the prize a handsome book. Then the girls tried to recognize pictures of well known people, and Miss Olive Grafton being possessed of the best memory secured a bouquet of fragrant flowers.
A dainty little supper finished the evening of pleasure.

Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. Ed Hines was at home to the members of the Fortnightly Club—serving a dainty high tea at 4 o'clock.

TUESDAY EVENING.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Albert E.
Gitter entertained twenty ladies in a room to her sister, Mrs. Frank o'clock tea, cake, nuts and coffee helped to speed away the time pleasantly.

Tuesday evening the Winter's Club were entertained by Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Bell. "Hearts" was the game that interested all, resulting in a victory for Mrs. W. B. Richie, who won a pretty cut glass dish, and for Mr.
Elmer B. Mitchell, who secured a handsome new pocketbook.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Lockhart, of west Spring street, are entertaining
Mr. and Mrs. George Newson at dinner this evening.

ette.

following guests, Mrs. Irwin, of Goshen, Ind.; Miss Kate Freeman and Messrs. Charles Adgate, Kent
Holland, Mr. Carmody, John Black,

in receiving were Mr. and Mrs. Richie, Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke, Mr. and Mrs. Ohler, Mr. and Mrs. Motter, ing to the rules of the American League, fifteen tables being filled with interested players, who found their play by amusing rhymes on cards for each. The tournament took place in the spacious billiard room on the third floor, an ideal place for the affair which was one of pleasure to all the players. Mr. Hobart Scott filled the position of secretary and score keeper, and at the close of the game the trophies belonged to Mr. John Black and Miss Edna Bel-ford, who won the score north and south, and Mr. H. L. Brice and Miss Violet Holland, highest score east and west, the ladies winning handsome hand-painted gifts, one a perfume bottle, the other a pitcher.

The men won sterling mounted card cases.

At the conclusion of the game an elegant supper was served in the dining room.

Last evening the Delmenico Cooking Club gave their fourth Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Miss Mary Parmenter, of west North street. The dinner was one of the best ever given by this club, which bears the name of America's most elegant caterer. The menu cards were unique little affairs, being turnips with the bill of fare on their backs.

Koop, Miss Ollie Thomas, Mr. John

"At another, as the feast was ended,
With grace, "Amen,"
The governor drew his broadsword

And smiting the tables near him

UNION-LABED

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thanksgiving day is peculiarly an American institution, and it is each recurring year becoming more universally observed in the abandonment of all business pursuits upon that day. In Lima to-day almost all mercantile houses, all the banks and all public offices are closed, and business is practically suspended while the people enjoy a short season of rest, and return thanks to the giver of every good and perfect gift for the blessings which they have received.

Along with the balance of mankind the publishers of the TIMES-DEMOCRAT have many reasons for thankfulness. The generous public which comprises the citizenship of Lima has extended to this newspaper a most liberal patronage, with the result that the TIMES-DEMOCRAT is to-day recognized as the leading newspaper of the city, fully abreast of the times in all those essentials which go to make up a first class, enterprising newspaper. The circulation of the paper has surpassed the fondest expectations of its publishers and the constant, steady increase denotes that the public appreciates our efforts to give them an ideal newspaper, which has become the leading, foremost journal of our surprising city. It has grown in size, in circulation and in prestige, and its clientele is to-day a feature which any publisher may well be proud to possess.

For this condition, in an especial degree, and for many other reasons in a general way, the publishers of this, the people's newspaper, feel thankful to-day.

TO NARROW EDUCATION.

Professor Norton illustrates with a story on Biology.

Charles Eliot Norton, professor of arts at Harvard university, whom Matthew Arnold described as the "only gentleman in America," objects most heartily to undergraduate specializing. He believes in the English university training, which gives a man a broad education and a liberal equipment for citizenship which makes him a cultivated gentleman. In one of his lecture courses Professor Norton told of a student with whom he had talked. The young man was a sophomore; his specialty, biology. He described with great enthusiasm the character of his work and lamented the fact that he had been unable through the regulations of the faculty, to take more biology in his freshman year. As a junior and a senior he intended to do it exclusively, he said.

The young man's enthusiasm was rather more abounding than inspiring to the professor. Four years' devotion to a single subject was crushing to his ideals of education. So he asked:

"Don't you think that your career in college would eventually be more satisfactory to yourself and of more profit to others if you were to take less of biology and acquaint yourself a little with literature and history and the arts?"

The sophomore thought he was predestined for biology.

For some time Professor Norton was silent. Then he said rather absently:

"Do you confine yourself to any particular branch of biology?"

The face of the student brightened. It was evident that he did. To the professor there was something pathetic as well as humorous in the reply that came quickly:

"Oh, yes. My work is entirely devoted to a study of the white ant's intestines." —Exchange.

A Prince's Hobbies.

Speaking of the Prince of Naples, Signor Giarelli says: "His hobbies are of a scientific nature. He is perhaps the only real electrician among all the present princes of Europe. He has never occupied himself much with literature, music or painting, but he is a master of electric mechanism. He is very learned in all that concerns the application of electricity to light, motive power, sound and photography. He was one of the first and most successful experimenters with the X rays after their discovery, and in Rome his residence in the Quirinal had the aspect, during his royal highness' bachelor days, of a scientific laboratory."

B. OF R. T. LADIES

Gave a Delightful Masquerade Ball at the Klaus Hall Last Night.

All Trains Were Annulled and the Crews Enjoyed a Royal Good Time.

The first annual grand masquerade ball, given at the Klaus Hall last night by the members of Lima Lodge
No. 112, Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was a thorough success and the ladies are to be congratulated upon the results of their first attempt at this kind of entertainment.

About forty couples were in attendance, and the masquerade cor-tunes were both handsome and unique. The grand march was played at 9 o'clock and was followed by a lively quadrille. At 11 o'clock the masks were removed and many surprises followed. The programme consisted of 19 popular dances and all were greatly enjoyed. The merry party dispersed at an early hour this morning. The committee to which credit is due for the excellent management of the affair, were composed as follows:

THANKSGIVING SERVICES

Well Attended at the Various Churches This Morning.

Enthusiastic Services at the Market Street Presbyterian Church—A Generous Donation to the Proposed Hospital

The Thanksgiving services at the Market Street Presbyterian Church this morning were enthusiastic and attended by a large number of people. The services were participated in by the different pastors and congregations of that part of the city.

The music was rendered by the choral society and added a great charm to the service. Prayer was offered by Rev. I. J. Miller, and the address, which was a scholarly one, was delivered by Rev. Swanson.

Superintendent C. C. Miller, of the public schools, read the

ICELAND'S ALTHING.

A picture of the Parliament House, with the legislature in session. A deep gallery runs upon the strain, galleries as far back as the lower house rise to read the record. The viking board writings are beginning to legend each other and form a word that has not been used in common English tongue since it was ticked over Norman trifling by the Bastard eight centuries ago. It was the parliament house in Reykjavik and the sitting was in session. As the president seized a pen to sign the record I glanced diffidently at my companions. For the lack of a grade, the women sat to the left of the gallery, as in church, and the men to the right. There were a fishwife from the quay, one or two farmers' daughters in town for a day's shopping and others obviously present, as in another place, to hear their relatives declaim. The men represented on their side the same range of interests and included also the captain of the Iceland brigade of the Salvation Army, a Danish lieutenant, a French bagman and an official of the house. In a corner sat another Englishman, a young artist from the potteries. As the president rose the door noisily opened and there trooped in, as if to another place, a couple of half-shod youngsters from the Latin school.

The senate house is square and lofty, with a decorated ceiling, and around the walls hang portraits in oil of famous althing men. The benches are in a horseshoe, and each of the 24 members has his appointed place, with a couple of inkpots and a spittoon. Out of his six and eighteen a day (and traveling expenses) he can readily afford a well filled snuff horn, and the regularity wherewith some of the conscript fathers had a train of gunpowder along the gulley between the index and the thumb was a sight for Russell, C. J., himself.

The session lasts for a couple of months only, and some of the althing men have traveled for weeks to fulfill their duties. The Danish mail steamer makes one of its voyages a sort of parliamentary train. Starting from Reythafjordur, on the east coast, it circles the island northward and picks up the senators from fiord to fiord. Some of them come in on saddleback, driving before them a long train of pack ponies and remounts. The senators represent the strongest elements in the public life of Iceland—farmers, lawyers, merchants, divisional magistrates and the like. There is also an upper house, filled half by election from the lower and half by the king.

The president wore no uniform to denote his rank—a frock coat midway in smartness between Com Paul and the colonial secretary, surmounted by a cravat that might have cost a krone. As he read, in a robust viking note, from the orders of the day, the Danish governor strolled in, gold laced and epauletted, sat at the desk reserved for him, lifted the lid to fetch out his papers, glanced round for an attendant, who is also the curator of the museum, and took stock nonchalantly of the house. The horseshoe still divided its interest between snuffing, following the text of the reader and glancing through the newspaper, which contained intelligence brought north by the mail. Except for size and grandeur, the scene most vividly recalled to my memory was the Glasgow city council chamber.—New York Post.

VITRIOL Instead of Bullets.

A great revolution in warfare will be effected if anything comes of the new French rifle which discharges vitriol instead of bullets. Heroes do not fear death, but naturally shrink from disfigurement. The Duke of Wellington, we are told in the Latin Grammar (conme), would "walk among the cannon balls, but not fearing one blow, but even the great duke would hardly have exhibited the same indifference to rifle-squinting vitriol! No decent looking soldier will be got to face them. They will have to be approached backward. This will entail a new system of drill. Think of a whole regiment marching backward! If both forces are possessed of this novel weapon, the spectacle will be doubly entertaining. Our idea will not only be transformed, but inverted. When our warriors return, says James Jay, they will no longer exhibit with pride the wounds they have received in front—quite the reverse. The more behind the better."

San Francisco Atgant.

"It goes to show how avarice will overreach itself," remarked the man who is always pointing a moral. Mr. Grepper has just wasted his money without realizing it."

In what manner?

"His doctor told him he needed a little mountain air. He wouldn't think of so expensive a trip, so he went to a show that included a pyrolean warbler."—Washington Star.

Stories from life.

WHY WOMEN SUFFER.

Women's weaknesses are the cause of more suffering than all other diseases combined. And yet women may easily avoid all these distressing ailments if they will only be wise. There is a way to prevent them. Mrs. Isabel Green, one of the leading ladies of Colchester, Conn., gives you valuable advice in these words:

"For three or four years I suffered with backache and bearing down pains and various other ailments peculiar to womankind and tried many kinds of medicine, but until I commenced the use of Warner's Safe Cure, I never received any permanent relief. As the result of taking it, I now feel like a new woman and have not had an ache or a pain for two years past. I cheerfully recommend this great remedy to every woman who suffers as I did."

Experience has proved that Warner's safe cure is positively the best remedy for putting a stop to female weaknesses of every kind. It is a remedy that no woman can afford to be without and it is a remedy that

EVERY WOMAN NEEDS.

A DREADED ENEMY.

To many men are declining, losing their energy, life and manly enter, rise by reason of a subtle poison in the blood which brings on that fatal malady known as Bright's disease. Its primary cause is a disordered condition of the liver and kid eyes and there is only one way in which it can be cleared out of the system. Mr. E. J. Codd, physician at the E. J. Codd Co., of Baltimore, Md., speaks from experience when he recently said: "Six years ago I was badly affected by an attack of Bright's disease. I had several doctors in attendance for some time, but finally discontinued their services and commenced taking Warner's safe cure. After using about six bottles I was entirely cured and restored to health."

These words are strong and convincing. They prove beyond any doubt that Warner's safe cure is able to cure Bright's disease and every other form of liver and kidney complaint. As a remedy it is unequalled, it can always be relied upon and IT NEVER FAILS.

RACKED WITH PAIN.

Thousands of men and women suffer agonizing pain from chronic rheumatism. They will be glad to know that there is a remedy which cures this terrible complaint. Dr. N. Butler, a well known resident of Danbury, Conn., testifies to this fact and says: "Last spring I suffered a great deal from rheumatism and took nearly every known remedy without receiving any benefit. Doctors afforded me almost no relief and I had begun to despair of getting well when I heard of Warner's safe cure and decided to try it. I am happy to state that after using it I recovered rapidly and have had an ache or a pain since."

If you are a sufferer from this painful disease, you can't be no better remedy than Warner's safe cure which is endorsed by eminent physicians and recommended by hundreds whom it has permanently cured and made

STRONG AND WELL.

The Anchovy.

The little anchovy is a fish of no small importance, being very largely used in various sauces, besides the numbers that are preserved in pickle. It is common in the Mediterranean, and is also found on our coasts. The upper jaw of this fish is longer than the lower one, the entire length of the fish is usually from 4 to 5 inches, but it has been seen measuring upward of 7 inches.

Even in the most severe cases of rain or bruise, cut or burn, home Electric Oil gives instant relief. It is the ideal family liniment.

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING.

Something About the Hopkins Park School Farm in Illinois.

The Hopkins Park School farm, situated 20 miles from Kankakee, Ill., is an institution organized and put in successful operation by Walter Thomas Mills of Chicago, for several years a prominent advocate of the principles of co-operation applied to labor.

The Hopkins Park School farm has existed for a year and a half, and although it has experienced some drawbacks, its promoters claim that its ultimate success is assured. There are 47 people on the farm, among them seven families, the others being farm students and children who are free to attend the school.

Early in 1896 a company was chartered with 27 members, including women and children. A Mr. Giblin of Kankakee county gave the colonists 40 acres of arable land and in addition 200 acres were rented. Work was begun promptly. Eleven cottages made of rough lumber were erected in a semicircle, with a schoolhouse, used also for a meeting house, in the center.

Then the embryo farmers started out to clear and till the land. They worked hard, lived soberly and orderly and practiced the most rigid economy. They broke up 200 acres the first year and planted 100 acres in corn, the other 40 acres being planted in sugar cane and garden truck. The remaining 40 acres were in timber and pasture lands.

As the work progressed additions were made to the stock and equipments. Community chicken houses were erected and stocked, horses for farm labor, small herds of cows and hogs were purchased as a nucleus for the food supply of the future.

The daily routine begins with ringing of the rising bell at 4 a.m. Breakfast is served at 6, and at 6:30 all assemble at the meeting house, where daily lessons of brotherly love are taught before the work of the day begins.

At 7 o'clock all go to the field, children as well as adults, remaining at work until 11:15, when the dinner bell summons them to the village. Dinner is served at 12:10.

At 1:30 class work begins in the schoolhouse, continuing until 5:30, with recesses for sports and relaxation. The course of study includes the ordinary public school lessons from the primary grade to the high school. There are four terms of three months each, with one week's vacation to each term.

Supper is served at 6 o'clock, and after supper until 8 o'clock all are at liberty to rest or enjoy what recreation they choose.

On Sunday no work is done save milking, cooking and whatever else is absolutely necessary. The forenoon is devoted to rest and reading. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock a nonsectarian form of worship, with a lecture, is held at the meeting house. The use of tobacco and intoxicants is forbidden within the precincts of the farm, and the sale of such luxuries is rigidly prohibited.

Each worker is provided with daily rations corresponding to those served to privates in the United States army. At the end of each quarter the net result of the product of labor is ascertained and divided. First a sum to repair all damages to tools, machinery and plant and to make good all losses is set apart. One-half of the surplus is divided among the students and workers proportionately to the hours of labor performed. The other half is again subdivided. A quarter goes to the workers according to the number of hours worked, and the other quarter is divided among those who purchase supplies from the community store according to the aggregate of their purchases for the term.

There is a form of government, but it is a mild one, and no poities enter into it. The measure of success attained by the close of the second summer is attested by the last financial statement, as follows: Receipts, $6,089.41; expenditures, $6,447.03; balance on hand, $242.38.

Unfortunately this balance was wiped out by a recent disaster. The barns and corner posts were destroyed by fire and nine horses were burned to death. This entailed a loss of $750, a serious blow to the struggling community, which put them $500 behind instead of $250 ahead. But having demonstrated the possibilities of success they are not disheartened, and they will go to work with a will to make up their losses.

The A. F. of L. Convention.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has issued the call for the national convention of that body, soon to be held in Nashville.

Mr. Gompers endeavors to impress upon all the importance of sending delegates of greatest intelligence and states his reasons in the following language:

"At no time have the legitimate and natural organizations of the wage earners—the trades unions—been more mercilessly assailed, subtly attacked and unmercifully antagonized. In no previous era have they more zealously safeguarded, protected and promoted the true interests of the workers of our country, and a decade may pass before more absorbing problems confront them. These now before us require the combined intelligence, earnestness, energy and honesty of purpose of all in the effort to truly and faithfully solve

The Right to Organize.

Revolutions of the right are working men to organize to a tangible shape in the Rock River conference of the Methodist-Episcopal church in Chicago, where the following unsolicited resolution was adopted:

Resolved That we the representatives of the Methodist-Episcopal church within the bounds of the Rock River conference, a church whose heart has always beat in sympathy with the toiling classes, do recognize the right of organization among all toilers for mutual welfare, so long as said organization does not interfere with the rights of others and the welfare of the community, and we unequivocally condemn the prohibition of this privilege because it is in direct opposition to the spirit of the gospel we preach and the rights of every American citizen.

Something About the Hopkins Park School Farm in Illinois.

The Hopkins Park School farm, situated 20 miles from Kankakee, Ill., is an institution organized and put in successful operation by Walter Thomas Mills of Chicago, for several years a prominent advocate of the principles of co-operation applied to labor.

The Hopkins Park School farm has existed for a year and a half, and although it has experienced some drawbacks, its promoters claim that its ultimate success is assured. There are 47 people on the farm, among them seven families, the others being farm students and children who are free to attend the school.

Early in 1896 a company was chartered with 27 members, including women and children. A Mr. Giblin of Kankakee county gave the colonists 40 acres of arable land and in addition 200 acres were rented. Work was begun promptly. Eleven cottages made of rough lumber were erected in a semicircle, with a schoolhouse, used also for a meeting house.

Then the embryo farmers started out to clear and till the land. They worked hard, lived soberly and orderly and practiced the most rigid economy. They broke up 200 acres the first year and planted 100 acres in corn, the other 40 acres being planted in sugar cane and garden truck. The remaining 40 acres were in timber and pasture lands.

As the work progressed additions were made to the stock and equipments. Community chicken houses were erected and stocked, horses for farm labor, small herds of cows and hogs were purchased as a nucleus for the food supply of the future.

The daily routine begins with ringing of the rising bell at 4 a.m. Breakfast is served at 6, and at 6:30 all assemble at the meeting house, where daily lessons of brotherly love are taught before the work of the day begins.
